Brian Blanchard and Sam Engel Win the 2024 Championship

A couple of software guys from Arizona took home the hardware on Wednesday at the 9th U.S. Amateur Four-Ball Championship at Philadelphia Cricket Club's Wissahickon Course.

Scottsdale residents Brian Blanchard, 31, and his 29-year-old, left-handed partner Sam Engel – affectionately called Team Software – defeated a pair of talented teenagers from Tennessee, Blades Brown, 17, of Nashville, and 18-year-old Jackson Herrington, of Dickson, 2 up, in the 18-hole championship match.

Engel becomes the 10th southpaw to win a USGA championship, but the first in the U.S. Amateur Four-Ball history. Two female lefties have claimed titles in the U.S. Women's Amateur Four-Ball, Erica Shepherd (2019) and Thienna Huynh (2022). This was the first time in history that two lefties were in a USGA final, as Herrington is also a southpaw.

This was also the first time that Blanchard and Engel had qualified for match play in their combined three previous USGA starts: the 2017 U.S. Mid-Amateur and 2018 U.S. Amateur for Blanchard; and 2023 U.S. Mid-Amateur for Engel.

"It's why we grind," said Blanchard. "It's why we're out there after work until it gets dark, grinding all day. I think he has a little more confidence than me. But here we are. I appreciate Sam for bringing his really strong confidence this week and helping the team to victory."

Added Engel, an account executive who is about to start with a new software company: "I think having your partner there with you, it's a good place to start. I think we both definitely believe in our games, but having the support is nice. It's hard to qualify for USGA championships, and if you don't have your best, best stuff, you go home. There's a lot of really great players. We brought it this week, and obviously awesome to ultimately bring home the hardware."

Blanchard, a software engineer at Workida who did not play golf while attending Arizona State University, and Engel, a two-time Academic All-American at Cal State Northridge who briefly tried the mini-tour life before regaining his amateur status in 2020, seized momentum midway through the back nine. Blanchard rolled in a 30-foot birdie on the par-4 13th hole, and Engel followed by stuffing his 52-degree wedge approach from 125 yards to a foot for a conceded birdie on No. 14, giving the side a 2-up lead.

Herrington and Brown did their best to try and force extra holes. Herrington's 96-yard gap wedge stopped 5 feet from the hole, setting up a winning birdie to send the match to the 18th hole, a dogleg-left par 4 that the teenagers had not played since stroke play last Saturday. Meanwhile, Blanchard and Engel had gone the distance in three of their four previous matches, including the morning semifinal win.

Brown, who is a rising high school junior at Brentwood Academy, a member of the inaugural U.S. National Junior Team and who recently made the cut at the PGA Tour's Myrtle Beach Classic, ripped a 350-plus yard drive to the bottom of the hill, setting up a 98-yard approach with his 54-degree wedge. Engel had already stuffed his approach to 10 feet, meaning the Tennesseans needed a birdie to force extra holes. Brown's approach spun back to 16 feet, while Herrington's shot from the left rough came up short of the putting surface.

The lefty's pitch from long range also stopped short, leaving it up to his partner, who last August became the youngest stroke-play medalist in U.S. Amateur history, surpassing a mark held by Bob Jones for 103 years. After studying every angle of the putt, Brown made a perfect stroke, and as the ball approached the hole, it look like it might sneak in over the left edge. Instead, it stopped less than an inch away, as Brown dropped to his knees.

The match see-sawed back in forth over the first 12 holes, but Engel and Blanchard never trailed. Blanchard's 3½-footer on No. 1 put the side up early, only to see Brown drain a 9-footer on three to tie it back up. After Herrington laced a 220-yard, 8-iron approach on No. 7 to set up a 12-foot eagle putt, Engel answered by holing out from a greenside bunker on No. 8 to retake a 1-up lead. It stayed that way until the par-5 12th, when Brown two-putted for birdie to tie it up, setting up the heroics by Blanchard and Engel on 13 and 14.

"We work really hard at our games, and we play a lot of tournaments back home in Arizona," said Engel, the 2023 Arizona Mid-Amateur champion. "We just knew if we put our best foot forward and hit some good shots, we'd be hard to beat."

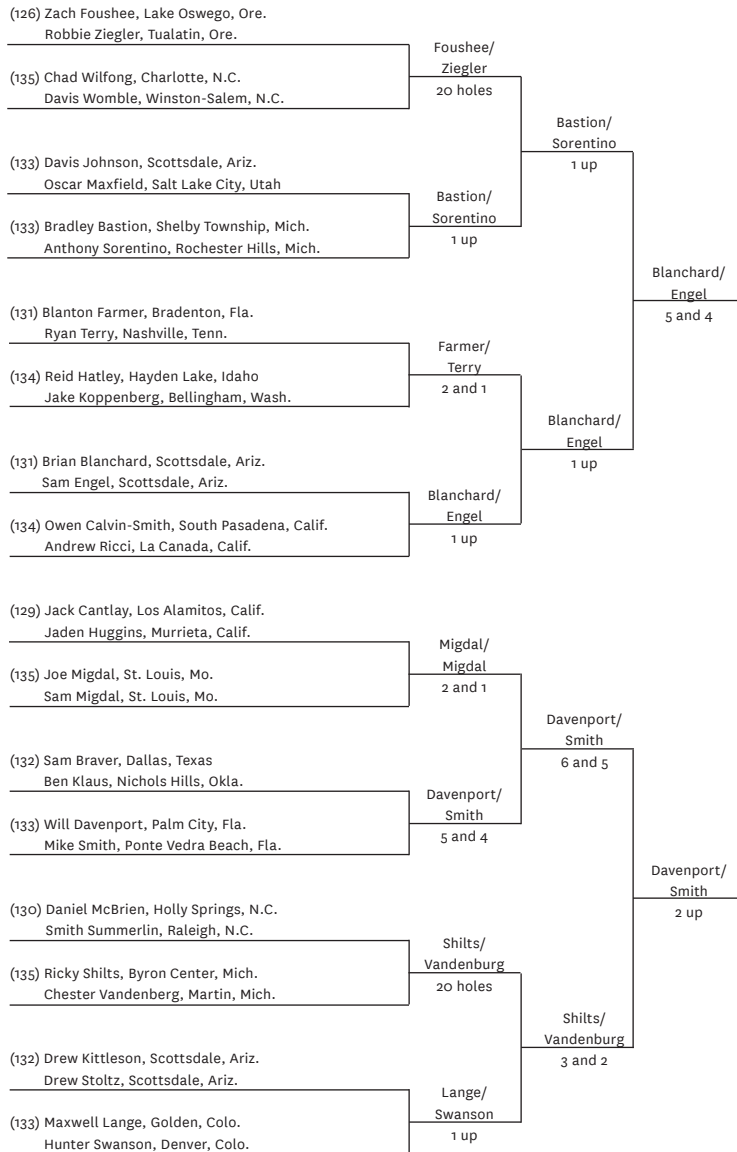

In the semifinals on Wednesday morning, Brown and Herrington jumped out to a 3-up advantage through the first eight holes against Furman University teammates Trey Diehl, of Orlando, Fla., and Mac Scott, of Birmingham, Ala., in posting a 4-and-3 win.

Blanchard and Engel never led until the 18th hole of their semifinal match against Floridians Will Davenport and Mike Smith. They rallied from an early 2-down hole to tie the match with a par on the challenging 219-yard, uphill, par-3 15th hole. Two holes later, both hit remarkable approach shots to within 10 feet – Blanchard from a fairway bunker and Engel from the left rough.

Smith, who operates his own college recruiting advisory service to help high school golfers make decisions about their playing future, was the only one in the fairway. He thought he hit a perfect 7-iron approach from 186 yards, only to see it come up short in a greenside bunker. He left his third in the bunker and knocked the fourth to 4 feet. Davenport, a financial consultant for The Boston Group, also failed to get up and down for par from left-greenside rough, and they immediately removed their hats and conceded the two birdie putts.

Championship History

The U.S. Amateur Four-Ball Championships were first played in 2015 but the genesis of these USGA competitions was years in the making.

As part of its mission to provide the best in national championship competition, the USGA began the process of developing and deploying these championships at the suggestion of Mike Davis, who served as the USGA's chief executive officer from 2011-21.

Through extensive research and cooperation from the nation's many state and regional golf associations, the planning and implementation by the USGA's Rules & Competitions department produced a proposal to the Executive Committee, which was passed and ultimately announced at the USGA Annual Meeting in San Diego in 2013.

"We couldn't be more excited about the creation of national four-ball championships, given the popularity and enjoyment of this competitive format at the amateur level," said USGA Vice President and Championship Committee Chairman Thomas J. O'Toole Jr., at the time of the announcement. "Because the four-ball format lends itself to spirited team competition and aggressive risk-reward shotmaking, we are confident these championships will deliver exciting amateur golf to the national stage for both players and spectators alike."

In 2012, more than 150 championships, either strictly four-ball or as part of a competition format, were conducted in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

The first two sites for each championship were announced in July of 2013: 2015 Four-Ball at The Olympic Club in San Francisco, Calif., and 2016 Four-Ball at Winged Foot Golf Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y. and the 2015 Women's Four-Ball at Bandon Dunes Golf Resort in Bandon, Ore., and the 2016 Women's Four-Ball at Streamsong Resort in Streamsong, Fla.

It marked the first time in 25 years, since the establishment of the U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur in 1987, that the USGA had added a new championship.

The establishment of the Four-Ball championships was first and foremost a reflection of the Association's continued commitment to supporting and growing amateur competition well into the future. A critical factor was that four-ball is a very popular event, not only at the club level, but through our state and regional golf associations (now Allied Golf Associations) who conduct championships like this every year and have for many years.

This format, more than most other formats, promotes camaraderie and perhaps players traveling together. The risk-reward element involved in two balls in play on each hole can produce some exciting golf and likely more birdies and eagles, which is attractive to competitors and fans.

In the inaugural year, 2015, the Four-Ball championships were the first USGA competitions to be televised by the Association's then broadcast partner, Fox Sports, with both championships receiving four hours of live broadcast coverage.

In 2020, the U.S. Amateur Four-Ball was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
