Trevor Gutschewski Wins the 2024 Championship

A field of 264 players entered the week at the 2024 U.S. Junior Amateur Championship, and after two rounds of stroke play and five rounds of match play just two remained for Saturday's 36-hole championship final at Oakland Hills in Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

On paper, the final match was rather lopsided. On one side was Tyler Watts, a member of the USGA's inaugural U.S. National Junior Team, the youngest player to ever win the Alabama State Amateur and No. 121 in the World Amateur Golf Ranking. On the other side was Trevor Gutschewski, the lowest-ranked player to reach the quarterfinals at No. 3,570 in the world, in his Junior Am debut.

Thankfully USGA championships aren't played on paper, because in reality the final match featured the two best players of the week, which set up for a thrilling day of play.

Entering the final match, Watts had played 81 holes over his five matches and trailed for just six. If you think that's impressive, Gutschewski played 91 holes and was losing for just three. In fact, he never trailed in four of his five matches, and that trend continued on Friday. Gutschewski added some hardware to his family's golf legacy with his 4-and-3 win over Watts to claim the 76th playing of the world's premier junior golf event.

"I don't even know," Gutschewski said of what it means to be a USGA champion. "Probably hasn't sunk in yet. I have to sit on it for a bit."

When it finally hits, the Florida commit will realize his name now sits alongside the likes of past Junior Amateur champions like Tiger Woods (1991-93), Jordan Spieth (2009, 2011), Scottie Scheffler (2013), and so many more. Despite the shock, one name stood out the first time he looked at the trophy.

"Probably this Tiger Woods guy," he said with a smile.

Trevor is the son of PGA Tour veteran Scott Gutschewski, who was playing in the 3M Open this week but missed the cut on Friday and arrived in time for the final match. Trevor's older brother, Luke, plays at Iowa State and shared medalist honors at the 2022 U.S. Amateur at Ridgewood Country Club in Paramus, N.J.

"I don't know what it is. USGA must not have brought the best out of me, but apparently they do out of my kids," Scott joked after the round. The three-time winner on the Korn Ferry Tour didn't play in any USGA events growing up and has just the 2009 U.S. Open (a missed cut) under his belt. "Yeah, they're cool and historic events. They're great tests. They test everything. They sometimes I think blur the line on what we as players think is fair. That's part of the test, right?"

The marathon day began at 7:30 a.m. EDT and saw

Gutschewski storm out of the gate with a birdie on the first, but Watts quickly followed suit to even the match on the next hole. On the par-3 3rd hole, Watts hit the flagstick with his tee shot and buried a 20-footer for birdie to tie Gutschewski, who then went on to take a commanding lead with three straight wins on Nos. 4-6, the latter of which was a hole-out eagle with a wedge from 100 yards out.

"I've been spinning it off that green all week, so I hit a chippy little 50-degree and looked really good," Gutschewski said of the shot. "Must have took a while to go in because we didn't see it. Everyone up there threw their hands up so, so we figured it went in."

Down three through six holes, Watts upped the voltage and powered his way back into the match. The 16-year-old Huntsville, Alabama native won the par-4 7th hole with birdie and then flipped the match in his favor with three consecutive wins of his own on Nos. 10-12.

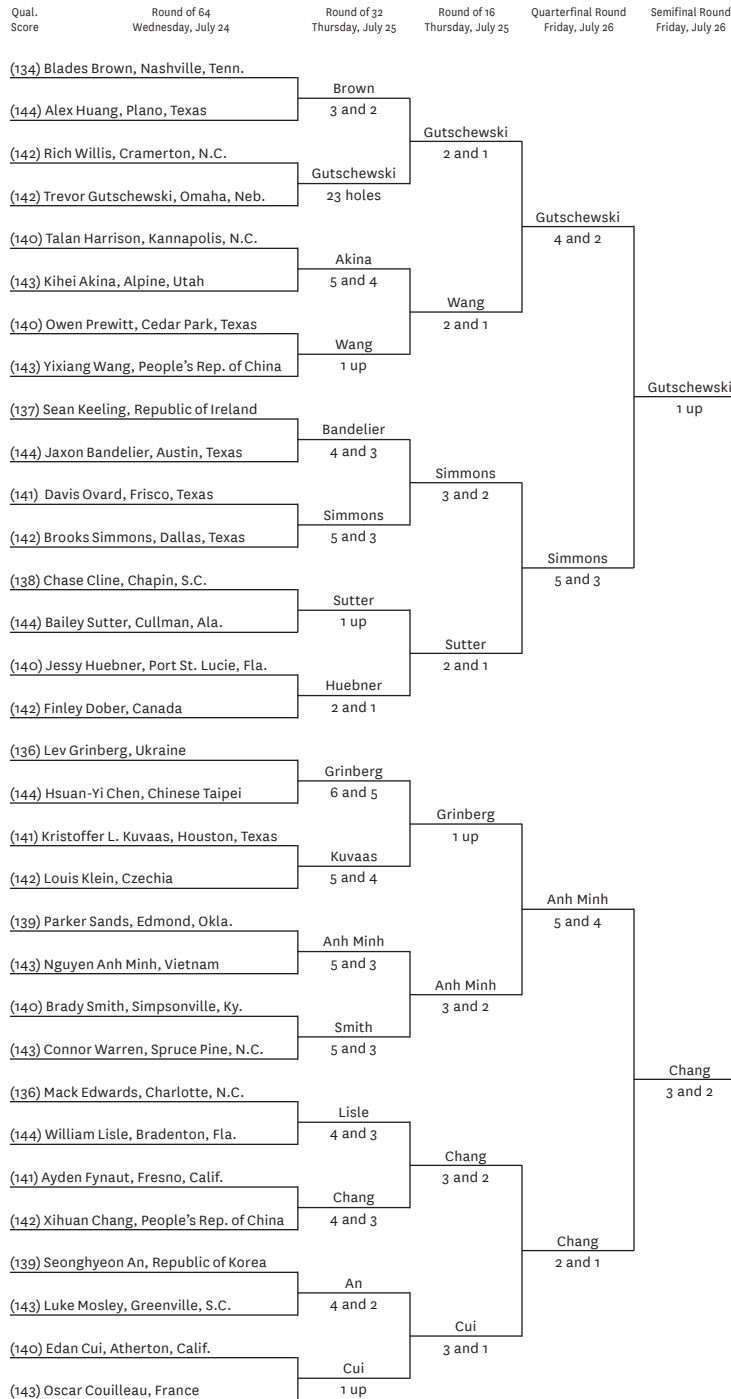

Gutschewski, 17, of Omaha, Neb., squared the match with a par on No. 14 but Watts caught a spark once again late on the back nine of the morning 18. The rising high school junior went flag hunting on No. 16 and stuffed a pitching wedge from 148 yards out to 2 feet to reclaim the lead. Watts then went 2 up after a Gutschewski bogey on No. 17 before a costly double-bogey six on No. 18 brought the match back to just a 1 up advantage at the break.

After the lunch break, Gutschewski made yet another birdie on the par-4 1st hole and walked in his six-footer to square the match for the fourth time on the day. A trio of pars from each player kept the finale tied for the next three holes before Watts slipped up with a bogey on the par-4 5th hole, the 23rd hole of the day. That gave Gutschewski a 1 up advantage, his first lead since the 10th hole in the morning 18. Watts briefly drew the match back level before Gutschewski claimed Nos. 7 and 8, the 25th and 26th holes of the day, to take a 2 up lead with 10 holes to play.

The momentum briefly swayed back in Watts' favor after he laced a 3-wood onto the green on the par-5 12 hole and Gutschewski found the greenside bunker with his approach. However, due to a two-putt birdie from Watts, Gutschewski was able to get up-and-down from the sand to maintain his lead. Each player then threw darts at the green on the par-3 13th, but only Gutschewski was able to make birdie to extend his lead to 3 up.

With little room for error, Watts finally ran out of juice and missed the green from the fairway on the par-4 15th and was unable to get up-and-down, which opened the door for Gutschewski to two-putt for par to win the hole and close out the match.

Championship History

In 1948, the USGA inaugurated the U.S. Junior Amateur Championship to determine the best junior golfer in the United States and also to help junior golfers learn how to realize the most from the game, win or lose.

The Junior Amateur was hardly the first junior competition to attract a national field. The Western Junior had been established in 1914. In 1946, two more competitions appeared, each with a claim on the national title. One was sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, the other by the Hearst Newspapers.

The first U.S. Junior Amateur was played at the University of Michigan Golf Course and drew 495 entries. The starting field of 128 players was determined by sectional qualifying rounds at 41 sites. Dean Lind, of Rockford, Ill., was the first champion. Lind defeated Ken Venturi, of San Francisco, a future U.S. Open champion, in the final.

By 1963, entries had surged to 2,230, a record for the 13th consecutive year. At the time, there was no handicap limitation for entrants. That changed in 1964 when a handicap limit of 10 strokes was introduced. In 1999, the championship attracted a record 4,508 entries.

In 1978, the USGA conducted the Junior Amateur over the South Course of the Wilmington (Del.) Country Club, while the Girls' Junior was being staged on the North Course. This was the first time the USGA conducted two national championships simultaneously at the same golf club.

The Junior Amateur is among the most difficult of all USGA championships to win due to two factors: the age limit and the tremendous number of fine young players who enter each year. Only one player, Tiger Woods, has won the Junior Amateur three times, winning in 1991, 1992 and 1993. Jordan Spieth, who first won in 2009, became the second player to claim more than one title when he won the 2011 championship. In fact, only seven players have reached the final at least twice: Mason Rudolph (1949, 1950), Eddie Pearce (1968, 1969), Mike Brannan (1971, 1973); Tim Straub (1982, 1983); Woods; Spieth; Jim Liu (2010, 2012); and Noah Goodwin (2016, 2017).

Woods, who was 15 years, 6 months and 28 days old when he won in 1991, was the youngest champion until 2010. At 14 years, 11 months and 15 days, Liu broke Woods' record by more than six months with his victory.

The Junior Amateur has another, more dubious, distinction. It is the only USGA championship for which Jack Nicklaus has been eligible that he did not win at least once. Nicklaus qualified for the championship five times; however, his best finish came in 1956, when he was a semifinalist.

The Junior Amateur remains today an educational opportunity as well as a competitive outlet. Pre-championship players' dinners have attracted guest speakers such as Francis Ouimet, Arnold Palmer, Johnny Miller and Annika Sorenstam, all willing to share their knowledge and experience with young players.

In 2020, the U.S. Junior Amateur was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Aligning with ongoing USGA initiatives to expand support of junior golf, the field size for the U.S. Junior Amateur increased from 156 players to 264, beginning with the 2021 championship at The Country Club of North Carolina.
