Kipp Popert and Bailey Bish Win the 2024 Championship

The first day of the 3rd U.S. Adaptive Open saw the lowest scores in the history in the men's and women's divisions of the championship, recorded by Kipp Popert (65) and Bailey Bish (69), respectively. Today, on the final day of the championship, Popert and Bish followed through on those record rounds by claiming victory at Sand Creek Station.

For Popert, this isn't new territory. The Englishman won the 2nd U.S. Adaptive Open held at Pinehurst No. 6 course in 2023. With rounds of 65-66-71, Popert adds another U.S. Adaptive Open trophy to his shelf and becomes the first overall winner in either the men's or women's categories to go back-to-back.

Popert, 26, was diagnosed with cerebral palsy at birth and competes in the Neurological Impairment category. This victory follows a strong stretch of play for Popert, who in February claimed the Golf for the Disabled (G4D) Tour Magical Kenya Open Presented by Absa. He finished T2 at another G4D Tour event in April. Popert came into the final round of the U.S. Adaptive Open with a commanding 6-stroke lead over Irishman Brendan Lawlor and continued his impressive run to the title, besting Simon Lee by 4 strokes in the end.

Popert maintained his steady play on the outward nine holes, making two birdies and just one bogey for a solid 35. A double bogey on the par-5 10th could have derailed his round, but Popert – ever the gamer – proceeded to birdie three of his next eight holes. While no round in a USGA championship is ever stress-free, Popert made the final round at Sand Creek Station look like it was just another day on the golf course.

"I would say just winning is – I guess people consider it hard," said Popert after his victory. "I consider it fun. I enjoy all of the pressure. As I say, I made double down 10 but I was like, all right, let's go show them we're still winning this thing despite a little trip. Yeah, very proud of myself."

Bailey Bish, who competes in the Neurological Impairment category after being diagnosed with dystonia and postural orthostatic tachycardia syndrome, held a commanding lead after her record first round but faltered to a 78 after day two. The 24-year-old from Tucson, Ariz., started her final round with bogey-bogey-double bogey, which brought 2022 U.S. Adaptive Open winner Kim Moore and defending U.S. Adaptive open winner Ryanne Jackson into the mix. Bish, however, quickly fought back after her slow start and made her first-ever eagle on the par-5 4th to pull four shots clear of both Moore and Jackson at the time.

Earlier in the week, Bish noted that playing in this championship has been a remarkable turnaround for her, and she repeated that sentiment after her final round. "Before I came to this event I was hoping that I would have a shot to win this thing," she said. "And then during the tournament I wasn't thinking about it at all. Just thinking about one shot at a time and seeing where I ended up at the end of the tournament."

Though Bish shot a 3-over 39 on the outward nine and double-bogeyed the par-5 10th, she kept her concentration throughout a tough final round with two former champions chasing her down. Every time Moore or Jackson seemed to be making a move up the leader board, Bish would get her game back on track. She made 8 straight pars on her inward nine after that double bogey on 10.

"I had a very rough first few holes and ended up eagling the 4th hole, which is my first eagle ever, so that was very exciting," said Bish. "That just built momentum and I was able to keep playing well throughout the rest of the round. It was a struggle out there, but we managed to pull through and put up an okay score today."

The following players take home medals for being the winners of their respective categories: Cathy Walch, Buford, Ga. (Upper Limb Impairment, women); Chris Willis, Canada (Upper Limb Impairment, men); Natasha Stasiuk, Canada (Intellectual Impairment, women); Simon Lee, Republic of Korea (Intellectual Impairment, men); Kim Moore, Battle Creek, Mich. (Lower Limb Impairment, women); Mike Browne, England (Lower Limb Impairment, men); Rose Veldman, Los Angeles, Calif. (Multiple Limb Amputee, women); Issa Nlareb, Cameroon (Multiple Limb Amputee, men); Bailey Bish, Tucson, Ariz. (Neurological Impairment, women); Kipp Popert, England (Neurological Impairment, men); Annie Hayes, Lee, Mass. (Seated Players, women); Max Togisala, South Ogden, Utah (Seated Players, men); Brendan Lawlor, Ireland (Short Stature, men); Amanda Cunha, Kaneohe, Hawaii (Vision Impairment, women); Kiefer Jones, Canada (Vision Impairment, men)

Notable

Issa Nlareb became the first Cameroonian to play in the U.S. Adaptive Open and finished with 4 birdies and no bogeys on his inward nine in the final round. He finished with rounds of 71-72-67 and won the multiple limb amputee category for men. Nlareb suffered from bacterial meningitis in 2018. The prognosis led to the amputation of both legs and multiple fingers.

After rounds of 81 and 85, Amanda Cunha, who plays in the Vision Impairment category, shot only the second under-par round of the week (Bailey Bish, Round 1) in the women's division, firing a 1-under 71. Her 14-stroke improvement from round to round was the biggest of the championship and the best final-round score in the women's division.

Championship History

The USGA has established the U.S. Adaptive Open Championship, a national championship that showcases the world's best golfers with disabilities in 2022. The inaugural competition was conducted on Course No. 6 at historic Pinehurst Resort & Country Club. The 2nd U.S. Adaptive Open was also held on Pinehurst No. 6 in 2023.

The U.S. Adaptive Open Championship serves as the association's 15th national championship, joining such iconic events as the U.S. Open, U.S. Women's Open, U.S. Amateur and U.S. Women's Amateur. Champions of this new event will see their names recorded in the annals of golf history alongside many of the game's storied figures.

The announcement of the championship follows through on a 2017 pledge by the USGA to establish this championship for the adaptive golf community.

"Since 1895, our championships have provided the world's best players with an opportunity to showcase their skills on a global stage, compete for a national championship and achieve their dreams," said John Bodenhamer, USGA senior managing director, Championships at the time of the announcement. "After years of planning and delays caused by the global pandemic, we are proud to bring that same opportunity to the adaptive golf community through this championship, and to do so at Pinehurst, our second home. We believe this effort will spur participation for golfers with disabilities and hope it inspires others in the industry to make the game and its competitions more welcoming to all."

The championship is contested over 54 holes of stroke play. It is open to males and females, professionals and amateurs, with either physical impairment, sensory impairment (vision), or intellectual impairment, who have a WR4GD Pass as well as an authorized World Handicap System (WHS) Handicap Index®. hips.

In 2024, the USGA announced three new exemption categories and implemented six qualifiers for the championship.

Exemptions were added for the overall male champion and overall female champion from the 2023 Canadian All Abilities Championship, presented by BDO, overall male champion and overall female champion from The 2024 G4D Open, and from the current WR4GD Gross Ranking – the top 10 men's point leaders and ties, and the top five females and ties.
